AI-assisted workflow

Codex + Figma MCP

Generated alternatives, reusable components, Auto Layout structures and prototype logic. Codex also built the optional functional web prototype.

Candidate direction

Selected the concept and rejected generic AI styling and wireframe-like results. Directed the visual refinement and approved the banking treatment.

Checks and limits

Eight calculation tests and browser checks for the web prototype. Figma states and approval were checked separately. Responses and finances are simulated; user testing is a next step.
